Interview Paper:

Part 1. Interview someone with a disability (intellectual or physical). If you have a disability, you must interview someone with a different disability other than your own. For example, if you have a physical disability, interview someone with an intellectual disability. The paper summarizing the interview must be at least 3 pages long.

Sample questions for the interview:
1. What is your disability?
2. How does the disability impact your daily life?
3. What are the biggest challenges you face as an individual with a disability?
4. What, if anything, would you change about your disability?
5. What would you want to share with others, if ever in your same situation?
6. What do you wish social workers knew about assisting you in regard to your disability?
7. Is there anything else you would like to share as an individual with a disability to others who may be assisting you with future needs?

Part 2. Summarize the interviewee’s experiences. Analyze what you have learned from this interview using one of the theories presented in the textbook.

Book Review

Read a book about a person with a disability and write a 3-page review of the book. Integrate what you have learned throughout this course and how it applies to the individual you are reading about. Discuss the challenges that the individual faced, how they overcame them, how they obtained help from others to reach their goals and what the implications are for you in working with persons with a disability.

F. Attendance

At The University of Texas at Arlington, taking attendance is not required but attendance is a critical indicator in student success. Each faculty member is free to develop his or her own methods of evaluating students' academic performance, which includes establishing course-specific policies on attendance. However, while UT Arlington does not require instructors to take attendance in their courses, the U.S. Department of Education requires that the University have a mechanism in place to mark when Federal Student Aid recipients "begin attendance in a course." UT Arlington instructors will report when students begin attendance in a course as part of the final grading process. Specifically, when assigning a student a grade of F, faculty report the last date a student attended their class based on evidence such as a test, participation in a class project or presentation, or an engagement online via Blackboard. This date is reported to the Department of Education for federal financial aid recipients.

G. Grading

Course Grade:

Letter Grade Points
A = 90-100%
B = 80-89%
C = 70-79%
D = 60-69%
F = 59% and below

H. Make-up Exams

Make-up exams or work is only offered to students that were personally hospitalized for the entire week of the exam. Students who miss exams or work due to other reasons will not be afforded the opportunity to make-up the exam.

I promise that I will submit only work that I personally create or contribute to group collaborations, and I will appropriately reference any work from other sources. I will follow the highest standards of integrity and uphold the spirit of the Honor Code.

UT Arlington faculty members may employ the Honor Code in their courses by having students acknowledge the honor code as part of an examination or requiring students to incorporate the honor code into any work submitted. Per UT System Regents’ Rule 50101, §2.2, suspected violations of university’s standards for academic integrity (including the Honor Code) will be referred to the Office of Student Conduct. Violators will be disciplined in accordance with University policy, which may result in the student’s suspension or expulsion from the University. Additional information is available at https://www.uta.edu/conduct/. Faculty are encouraged to discuss plagiarism and share the following library tutorials http://libguides.uta.edu/copyright/plagiarism and http://library.uta.edu/plagiarism/

S. Electronic Communication:

T. Campus Carry:
Effective August 1, 2016, the Campus Carry law (Senate Bill 11) allows those licensed individuals to carry a concealed handgun in buildings on public university campuses, except in locations the University establishes as prohibited. Under the new law, openly carrying handguns is not allowed on college campuses. For more information, visit http://www.uta.edu/news/info/campus-carry/.

U. Student Feedback Survey:
At the end of each term, students enrolled in face-to-face and online classes categorized as “lecture,” “seminar,” or “laboratory” are directed to complete an online Student Feedback Survey (SFS). Instructions on how to access the SFS for this course will be sent directly to each student through MavMail approximately 10 days before the end of the term. Each student’s feedback via the SFS database is aggregated with that of other students enrolled in the course. Students’ anonymity will be protected to the extent that the law allows. UT Arlington’s effort to solicit, gather, tabulate, and publish student feedback is required by state law and aggregate results are posted online. Data from SFS is also used for faculty and program evaluations. For more information, visit http://www.uta.edu/sfs.

V. Final Review Week:
For semester-long courses, a period of five class days prior to the first day of final examinations in the long sessions shall be designated as Final Review Week. The purpose of this week is to allow students sufficient time to prepare for final examinations. During this week, there shall be no scheduled activities such as required field trips or performances; and no instructor shall assign any themes, research problems or exercises of similar scope that have a completion date during or following this week unless specified in the class syllabus. During Final Review Week, an instructor shall not give any examinations constituting 10% or more of the final grade, except makeup tests and laboratory examinations. In addition, no instructor shall give any portion of the final examination during Final Review Week. During this week, classes are held as scheduled. In addition, instructors are not required to limit content to topics that have been previously covered; they may introduce new concepts as appropriate.
