Description of Course Content: The purpose of this class is to introduce students to theoretical and practical ideas about diversity in organizations, increase understanding of the concept of diversity in organizations, reduce discrimination, and increase fairness and equality to employees, applicants, and customers. It will improve students’ ability to understand and address diversity as a manager and employee. Research relevant to organizations, and many functions within organizations, including human resources (recruitment, selection, training and development, performance management and evaluation, safety and health, etc.), marketing, and customer relations will be discussed. We will study diversity issues in many different types of organizations. We will learn about historical bases of diversity in the United States and in U.S. organizations, about how to identify diversity concerns elsewhere, about legislation related to diversity, and about trends in diversity from a variety of sources. This is not a diversity-training course, although the knowledge from the course will be valuable for those interested in diversity training.

This class requires students to come to class prepared to contribute to discussions, ask questions, and discuss the material. Remember: 3 for 1. A general rule is that students should prepare and study 3 hours outside of class for each 1 hour of class time (don’t laugh! It works very well if you do it with 9 of the 168 hours in each week). As a college graduate, you will join a privileged group: less than 7% of the world’s population has earned a college degree. Make the most of your time left in college. Use your privileged position to make a difference in the world.

Much of your learning of the material will occur during the 3 for 1 time, and it’s such an interesting and important topic, you may find yourself reading ahead in the book, and seeking outside sources of diversity research. We will not cover all material in the book, and students are responsible for the material in the chapters and should ask questions if items in the book are unclear. There is a lot of material, so be sure to keep up. For every week, there are additional articles and videos that should be read, in addition to the chapter material. I will supplement these materials during the semester with additional readings, videos, and articles.

In studying and discussing the material, learning to couch our individual experiences and anecdotal evidence against data and research is an important part of the diversity-learning experience. As employees, supervisors, and managers, managers to be, executives, or entrepreneurs, it is important to also learn how to manage and embrace the diversity of employees, applicants, and customers. It is also important to understand how diversity may affect us and how to use our diversity and multiple-group memberships in positive ways.

Diversity in organizations is a broad topic, affected by many issues outside of organizations, including historical views of men’s and women’s roles (for example, societal norms, socialization), legislation (for example, who can/can’t marry, who can/can’t immigrate, where certain people can/can’t work), demographic trends, and other complexities of diversity issues. As historical foundations and perspectives provide the opportunity to level-set and increase understanding of present day issues, some of these issues will be covered as well. Many of the issues that have occurred in the past have similar or parallel issues today. We will spend time investigating stereotypes and myths, and will use data to help dispel them. We will learn to question sources of information, to seek valid sources of information, and to think intensively and critically about diversity issues. Be aware that diversity can be harder than other topics because many of our preconceived notions are wrong, directly in contrast to the data. Thus, we have to be aware of these misconceptions and actively seeking to learn.

For those of you who are currently employed or have ever worked, make notes of examples in your workplace of the diversity concepts addressed in this course. Use what you’re learning to help your organization function better and to increase equality, diversity, and inclusion in the organization.

Required Textbooks and Other Course Materials:

Bell, M. P. 2017. Diversity in Organizations (3rd Edition). Diversity in Organizations is a research-based textbook and references hundreds of academic studies and data from the U.S. Census Bureau, Department of Labor, EEOC, and other sound sources.

*See Blackboard for instructions for your class to access MindTap.

MindTap includes various features such as sample quizzes, videos, flashcards, and vocabulary, which will be helpful to you in mastering the material and in preparing for exams and quizzes. This work can be part of your 3/1 study time.

Bell - Bundle: Diversity in Organizations, Loose-Leaf Version, 3rd + MindTap Management, 1 term (6 months)
7/20/2016 (c) 2017 3rd Edition
This can also be purchased as part of a “Cengage Unlimited” package if Cengage books are being used in any of your other courses. See this for info:

Note: Other required materials and info are currently in or will be uploaded onto Blackboard. Be sure to check your Blackboard regularly and check the syllabus for requirements already noted. There is a list of suggested readings in Blackboard for those who are interested in learning more about a variety of diversity topics.

Attendance: At the University of Texas at Arlington, taking attendance is not required but attendance is a critical indicator in student success. Each faculty member is free to develop his or her own methods of evaluating students’ academic performance, which includes establishing course-specific policies on attendance. However, while UT Arlington does not require instructors to take attendance in their courses, the U.S. Department of Education requires that the University have a mechanism in place to mark when Federal Student Aid recipients “begin attendance in a course.” UT Arlington instructors will report when students begin attendance in a course as part of the final grading process. Specifically, when assigning a student a grade of F, faculty report the last date a student attended their class based on evidence such as a test, participation in a class project or presentation, or an engagement online via Blackboard. This date is reported to the Department of Education for federal financial aid recipients.

As the instructor of this class, I will take attendance regularly. I will make a seating chart in week 2 based on where you sit in week 1. This will enable me to try to get to know your names as well as note attendance each class. If you are unable to consistently come to class on time, please choose a seat on the back row or on the edge of a row so that you do not disrupt the class when entering.

Please be sure to sit in the seat you have chosen. Please do not be disruptive or distracting to others. This includes improper laptop or cellphone use or leaving the room during class to use the phone. Please do not use your cellphone, surf the web, or prepare for another class. It is better to miss class than to be disruptive and rude in class. PLEASE DO NOT exit the class to use the phone. You can make it 80 minutes without the phone.

Please do not sit in the far right top seat at the back of the classroom, nearest the west door.

Standards of Classroom Behavior and Interactions

At times, some of the course material may make us uncomfortable, nervous, angry, guilty, or other emotions. It is therefore very important for us to be sensitive to and respectful of each other and the topic at all times. We are all different and contribute to the diversity in our society and workplaces. We are also all products of the environments in which we grew up, have visited, currently live, and our life experiences. We have been exposed to many images and messages that have shaped our beliefs, including stereotypes, prejudice, and fears. In this class we will learn and grow from each other, as well as from the course content. Discussing topics and ideas does not mean we espouse them, nor does it mean we are racist, sexist, heterosexist, homophobic, or other hold ‘isms’. We will ground our discussions with research and data, and most importantly, we will be respectful of each other and the topic at all times. If the line of respect is crossed, I will ask for and appreciate your help in turning around and learning from the experience.

Other points about class conduct, learning, and interactions (adapted with permission from D. Kravitz):

1. Together, we are here to learn about very complex issues that have plagued society, in one form or another, since the beginning of civilization.
2. We all have some prejudices or biases against and stereotypes about some thing, group, or individual.
3. We all have experienced some level of prejudice, stereotyping, and bias.
4. We all have of some lack of knowledge concerning another group or class of people. No one in the class knows everything there is on issues related to diversity, so it is expected that we come to class with an open mind. Learning that some things about which we were certain are inaccurate can be very eye-opening.
5. Learning about diversity issues occurs in a supportive environment, where there is a climate of openness and trust, thus, we will try to discuss honestly our experiences and feelings without fears of being judged, stereotyped, categorized, or harmed.
6. Some of the readings, discussions, and presentations in this course will trigger a wide range of emotions--some of which may be painful or uncomfortable to explore, but exploring these feelings will probably be the greatest catalyst for our growth and development.
7. Students should view expression of alternative viewpoints as an inevitable, necessary, and important part of education about diversity in organizations. Part of a student's learning in this course involves awareness of and understanding of various viewpoints and gaining awareness about one's own point of view.
8. Many students notice that they become acutely aware of diversity issues in and outside of class over the semester. Some students mistakenly believe that they are becoming more prejudiced, intolerant, etc. because of their class learning. What's actually happening is that students are becoming more aware of things that have always been present, but that they haven't been attuned to. This is part of the learning process.
9. Respect people's confidentiality outside of this class. Please mask the identity of individuals who may have been involved in a conversation when discussing the class with those who are not enrolled.

Participation Guidelines:

It is extremely important that every student read and adhere to the following:
1. Always feel free to express yourself, even if you disagree with others' views.
2. Be respectful of others. That does not mean that you have to agree with them. Rather, frame your disagreement as a dissension of opinion as opposed to a personal attack, which will not be tolerated!
3. Listen to one another to try to understand each other's perspective. One of the many benefits of a diverse university is the ability to learn from those who are different. Embrace it.
4. Don't take dissenting opinions personally. You cannot learn if all you expect to hear is your own opinion. Others will disagree; discussion of those disagreements is when learning takes place.
5. Remember that we are trying to learn about diversity, and many of our opinions and beliefs are not grounded in facts and data. Remember also that research also shows that people sometimes hold fast(er) to erroneous beliefs when presented with evidence to the contrary.
6. Wait your turn. Discussions may get very passionate. When this happens, I will direct traffic so that everyone has an opportunity to speak and to be heard.

ELECTRONIC DEVICES IN THE CLASSROOM

Cell phones must be on silent (no ringing or buzzing) during class time. Please do not use your cellphone during class or leave class to use your phone unless it is an emergency. Doing so is rude and distracting. You can make it for 80 minutes without it. Just put it away so you don’t see it.

iPads, laptops, tablets, and other electronic devices must be used for class purposes only.
Researchers have found that using these items in class for non-class purposes is detrimental to those who use them and their neighbors. Please do not do it. Improper use of electronic devices will be recorded.

Do not record classes unless you have a provided documentation of a disability from OSD that requires it.

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of the course, students should:

1. be able to identify and explain the commonly studied areas of diversity and discuss their interactions with one another.
2. be able to discuss the legislation and acts that are related to diversity in organizations and explain the historical and current legal and social issues that affect today’s workers and organizations.
3. demonstrate understanding of factors related to the management of diversity in organizations.
4. be able to express the importance of diversity in organizations to all workers.
5. be able to explain research results relevant to key areas of diversity in organizations.
6. be able to describe and dispel common myths and misperceptions about diversity in organizations.

If you allow it, you may well learn more interesting and useful information in this class (that will help you both inside and outside of work) than you have in any other class you’ve taken in the past. You will see diversity continually and in ways you may not have seen it before. See chapter 1 for the benefits of studying in a diverse environment, such as UTA, and one in which diversity learning is viewed as valuable.

FORMAT: Students should come to class prepared to participate in discussions, having read all assigned readings and supplemental materials and completed all assignments and homework as required. We will not cover all or most of the material in the book; however, you are responsible to keep up with material.

This will be a rigorous and demanding course, but hopefully also enjoyable, interesting, and useful. Having taken previous introduction to management, organizational behavior, sociology, and/or psychology courses is helpful.

Grading: Any changes will be announced in class and communicated via the official uta email account. Students are expected to keep track of their performance throughout the semester and seek guidance from available sources (including the instructor) if their performance drops below satisfactory levels; see “Student Support Services,” below.
DESCRIPTIONS OF MAJOR ASSIGNMENTS AND EXAMINATIONS:

1. Exams (40 points each)

There will be three exams during the semester and the final exam. The lowest exam grade is dropped. Exams may consist of multiple choice, true/false, short answer, essay, fill-in-the-blank, case questions, or other type of questions. Bring a SCANTRON 882E (LONG version) for exams. Students will be required to demonstrate knowledge and understanding of course concepts, including the ability to apply knowledge from the classes, readings, assignments, exercises, viewing materials, and textbook and a knowledge of vocabulary (flashcards in MindTap are very helpful). Most of the material will build upon other material, so be sure to keep up and to ask questions if you are unsure about something.

2. Quizzes (10 points each)

There will be three 10 point quizzes during the semester over the chapter material, readings, homework, and other covered material. The questions on the quizzes will be designed to encourage students to read the material, do MindTap exercises and vocabulary, do all readings, and come prepared for classes. The lowest grade of the quizzes will be dropped. There are no makeup quizzes, so if you miss a quiz, that will constitute your dropped quiz. If you miss more than one quiz, you will earn an associated number of zeroes for the quiz grade. Bring a SCANTRON 882E (LONG version) for the quizzes and exams.

3. Participation and Homework (up to 3 bonus points):

Coming to class is necessary, but not sufficient to earn a bonus. Participation will be assessed for relevance to the topic, integration of concepts, insightfulness, and logic. Improper use of electronic equipment, private conversations, sleeping, doing other work, and other disruptions will detract from any participation that might have been earned. Bonus points are not guaranteed, nor are they an entitlement for showing up. There are homework assignments for each week that will be used for class discussions, quizzes, and exam questions. Be sure to do each part. Unless the question requires a short one word answer or specific definition, answers should generally be 2-4 sentences for each question. They should be thoughtful, reasoned, and/or supported by the book or research. Create a “homework portfolio” to use in your learning the material and studying throughout the semester. Some content from homework will appear in the exams and quizzes.

Because this an interactive and participatory class, active outside work is important. All readings and homework should be completed and prepared for discussion by the date assigned. Bring homework to class for class discussions. Homework will be used for discussions and may be picked up at any time during the semester for extra bonus consideration.

Minimum Points possible:

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>3 – 40 point exams each</td>
<td>120</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2 – 10 point quizzes</td>

</tbody>
</table>

Note: Some items may be deleted or additional graded items (homework, quizzes, etc.) may be added during the semester, changing points possible. If so, the percentages for final grades will remain as follows:

A: 90% or more
C: 70% to 79.9%
B: 80 to 89.9%  D: 60% to 69.9%
C: 70% to 79.9%  F: <60%

Make-up Exams: There are no make-up exams. The lowest exam grade is dropped, so if you miss one, that one will be your dropped exam. If you miss two exams, one grade earned will be a zero. There are no makeups for missed quizzes, other assignments, or missed in-class activities. Yes, you may use the final exam as your dropped exam.

Expectations for Out-of-Class Study: Beyond the time required to attend each class meeting, students enrolled in this course should expect to spend at least an additional 9 hours per week of their own time in course-related activities, including reading required materials, completing assignments, preparing for exams, etc. Documenting the time you spend studying is helpful as it enables you to know how much you are and need to be studying. Try it, and see how much of a difference it makes. Put your phone away or on silent, and try it. When you think you’ve studied enough, study some more to get to your allocated time.

Drop Policy: Students may drop or swap (adding and dropping a class concurrently) classes through self-service in MyMav from the beginning of the registration period through the late registration period. After the late registration period, students must see their academic advisor to drop a class or withdraw. Undeclared students must see an advisor in the University Advising Center. Drops can continue through a point two-thirds of the way through the term or session. It is the student’s responsibility to officially withdraw if they do not plan to attend after registering. Students will not be automatically dropped for non-attendance. Repayment of certain types of financial aid administered through the University may be required as the result of dropping classes or withdrawing. For more information, contact the Office of Financial Aid and Scholarships (http://wweb.uta.edu/aafo/).

Disability Accommodations: UT Arlington is on record as being committed to both the spirit and letter of all federal equal opportunity legislation, including The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), The Americans with Disabilities Amendments Act (ADAAA), and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act. All instructors at UT Arlington are required by law to provide “reasonable accommodations” to students with disabilities, so as not to discriminate on the basis of disability. Students are responsible for providing the instructor with official notification in the form of a letter certified by the Office for Students with Disabilities (OSD). Only those students who have officially documented a need for an accommodation will have their request honored. Students experiencing a range of conditions (Physical, Learning, Chronic Health, Mental Health, and Sensory) that may cause diminished academic performance or other barriers to learning may seek services and/or accommodations by contacting: The Office for Students with Disabilities, (OSD) www.uta.edu/disability or calling 817-272-3364. Information regarding diagnostic criteria and policies for obtaining disability-based academic accommodations can be found at www.uta.edu/disability.

Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS) www.uta.edu/caps/ or calling 817-272-3671 is also available to all students to help increase their understanding of personal issues, address mental and behavioral health problems and make positive changes in their lives.

Non-Discrimination Policy: The University of Texas at Arlington does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, age, gender, sexual orientation, disabilities, genetic information, and/or veteran status in its educational programs or activities it operates. For more information, visit uta.edu/eos.

Title IX Policy: The University of Texas at Arlington (“University”) is committed to maintaining a learning and working environment that is free from discrimination based on sex in accordance with Title IX of the Higher Education Amendments of 1972 (Title IX), which prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex in educational programs or activities; Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (Title VII), which prohibits sex discrimination in employment; and the Campus Sexual Violence Elimination Act (SaVE Act). Sexual misconduct is a form of sex discrimination and will not be tolerated. For information regarding Title IX, visit www.uta.edu/titleIX or contact Ms. Jean Hood, Vice President and Title IX Coordinator at (817) 272-7091 or jmhood@uta.edu.

Academic Integrity: Faculty are encouraged to discuss the Honor Code, below, and the consequences of cheating, including plagiarism with their students.

I pledge, on my honor, to uphold UT Arlington’s tradition of academic integrity, a tradition that values hard work and honest effort in the pursuit of academic excellence.

I promise that I will submit only work that I personally create or contribute to group collaborations, and I will appropriately reference any work from other sources. I will follow the highest standards of integrity and uphold the spirit of the Honor Code.

UT Arlington faculty members may employ the Honor Code in their courses by having students acknowledge the honor code as part of an examination or requiring students to incorporate the honor code into any work submitted. Per UT System Regents’ Rule 50101, §2.2, suspected violations of university’s standards for academic integrity (including the Honor Code) will be referred to the Office of Student Conduct. Violators will be disciplined in accordance with University policy, which may result in the student’s suspension or expulsion from the University. Additional information is available at https://www.uta.edu/conduct/. Students are encouraged to review these guides on plagiarism http://libguides.uta.edu/researchprocess/plagiarism http://libguides.uta.edu/copyright/plagiarism

PLEASE DON’T CHEAT. Any suspected academic dishonesty will be turned in to the student conduct office.

Electronic Communication: UT Arlington has adopted MavMail as its official means to communicate with students about important deadlines and events, as well as to transact university-related business regarding financial aid, tuition, grades, graduation, etc. All students are assigned a MavMail account and are responsible for checking the inbox regularly. There is no additional charge to students for using this account, which remains active even after graduation. Information about activating and using MavMail is available at http://www.uta.edu/oit/cs/email/mavmail.php.

Campus Carry: Effective August 1, 2016, the Campus Carry law (Senate Bill 11) allows those licensed individuals to carry a concealed handgun in buildings on public university campuses, except in locations the University establishes as prohibited. Under the new law, openly carrying handguns is not allowed on college campuses. For more information, visit http://www.uta.edu/news/info/campus-carry/Student Feedback Survey: At the end of each term, students enrolled in face-to-face and online classes categorized as “lecture,” “seminar,” or “laboratory” are directed to complete an online Student Feedback Survey (SFS). Instructions on how to access the SFS for this course will be sent directly to each student through MavMail approximately 10 days before the end of the term. Each student’s feedback via the SFS database is aggregated with that of other students enrolled in the course. Students’ anonymity will be protected to the extent that the law allows. UT Arlington’s effort to solicit, gather, tabulate, and publish student feedback is required by state law and aggregate results are posted online. Data from SFS is also used for faculty and program evaluations. For more information, visit http://www.uta.edu/sfs.

Final Review Week: for semester-long courses, a period of five class days prior to the first day of final examinations in the long sessions shall be designated as Final Review Week. The purpose of this week is to allow students sufficient time to prepare for final examinations. During this week, there shall be no scheduled activities such as required field trips or performances; and no instructor shall assign any themes, research problems or exercises of similar scope that have a completion date during or following this week unless specified in the class syllabus. During Final Review Week, an instructor shall not give any examinations constituting 10% or more of the final grade, except makeup tests and laboratory examinations. In addition, no instructor shall give any portion of the final examination during Final Review Week. During this week, classes are held as scheduled. In addition, instructors are not required to limit content to topics that have been previously covered; they may introduce new concepts as appropriate.

Emergency Exit Procedures: Should we experience an emergency event that requires us to vacate the building, students should exit the room and move toward the nearest exits, which are located just outside the classroom to the left and right, up a short stairwell. When exiting the building during an emergency, one should never take an elevator but should use the stairwells. Faculty members and instructional staff will assist students in selecting the safest route for evacuation and will make arrangements to assist individuals with disabilities.

Student Support Services: UT Arlington provides a variety of resources and programs designed to help students develop academic skills, deal with personal situations, and better understand concepts and information related to their courses. Resources include tutoring, major-based learning centers, developmental education, advising and mentoring, personal counseling, and federally funded programs. For individualized referrals, students may visit the reception desk at University College (Ransom Hall), call the Maverick Resource Hotline at 817-272-6107, send a message to resources@uta.edu, or view the information at http://www.uta.edu/universitycollege/resources/index.php.

Emergency Phone Numbers: In case of an on-campus emergency, call the UT Arlington Police Department at 817-272-3003 (non-campus phone), 2-3003 (campus phone). You may also dial 911. For non-emergencies, contact the UTA PD at 817-272-3381.

COURSE SCHEDULE (tentative schedule and subject to change); changes will be announced in class or via official UTA email) appears on the following pages. The schedule may be adjusted as needed during the semester.

Read, watch, and/or complete the following before the class period during the 3 for 1 studying time for this class each week. If there’s a link, click on it. Throughout the semester, we will build on the material, so keep up and engage with learning.

At the beginning of the semester, make a note of all of the homework, quizzes, and exams that are noted on the syllabus. Put these dates in your calendar, with reminders several days before, and the immediate day before. If there are weather events that cause school to be closed, typically, the exams or quizzes will be the immediately following class period. Students will be notified by email, as appropriate, for any changes.

Due dates and content may be adjusted as needed during the semester.

Getting Started:
INTRODUCTION, THEMES...
Diversity Hats
Let’s discuss: Why are you interested in studying diversity in organizations?

TEXTBOOK: Read Chapters 1 (Introduction) and 2 (Theories). Complete MINDTAP work. Chapters 1-3 set the foundation for the rest of the semester, with recurring themes, theories, legislation, and information.

HOMEWORK A: Put your “diversity hat’ on as you shop, eat out, watch tv, go to religious services, to a sporting event, etc. of your choice.
1. Where were you or what were you watching?
2. Whom do you see working?
3. What kinds of people are working in which jobs?
4. Who is absent or grossly underrepresented at all?
5. What are potential individual and organizational consequences of the representation of the sampling you describe?

REQUIRED READING: Dweck (see Blackboard): Even Geniuses...

HOMEWORK B (EVERYONE READ, DECIDE, AND SHARE THIS INFORMATION!)
1. Decide to work hard! (IN THIS CLASS, YOUR OTHER CLASSES, AND IN LIFE. Help others decide this also). The negative messages you or they may have received about “being smart” or “good at something” can be destructive. Behave like a genius! If one approach doesn’t work, try a different approach. You can do whatever you set your mind to!

QUESTION TO CONSIDER: What proportion of the world’s population has a college degree?

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>1/22, 24</th>
<th>TEXTBOOK: Read Chapters 2 (Theories) and 3 (Legislation). Complete MINDTAP work. Again, chapters 1-3 set the foundation for the rest of the semester, with foundational themes, theories, legislation, and information. Start strong and finish strong. Think intensively and critically.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

HOMEWORK C:
Note: It is not necessary to turn in or discuss in class if you do not wish to. But, do it, and think about it.
1. If you were describing yourself to others, what would you say?
2. How would those who don’t know you describe you?
3. Are there areas in which you are a member of a dominant group? A non-dominant group? How do these group memberships affect your life, opportunities, outcomes, and experiences?
4. Are there areas in which your group membership has changed?
5. Are there areas in which your group membership is concealable? Have you ever purposely concealed an aspect of your group membership? Why?

Watch and consider: Worlds apart: https://www.thedrinksbusiness.com/2017/05/heinekens-social-experiment-ad-campaign/

HOMEWORK D:
Go to Project Implicit website at https://implicit.harvard.edu/implicit/, then click on the Demonstration box on the left side of the page to take at least 3 tests of your choosing. Note: It is not necessary to turn in or discuss the specifics of your results. When you’ve completed the tests, read the FAQs, too. Think about the following questions:
1. What tests did you choose? Why?
2. What do you think about the results?
3. If valid, how might one’s results affect one’s actions and assumptions as a manager, journalist, politician, teacher, doctor, police officer, retail clerk, or customer service rep?

Spend some time exploring and thinking about content on the Breaking Prejudice website: http://breakingprejudice.org/
1/29, 31

If you have not had previous exposure to HR-related legislation, spend quite a bit of time on Chapter 3. You will need to know and understand the laws and their roles in diversity in organizations.

HOMEWORK D (FOR CLASS DISCUSSION):
Spend some time scrolling through eeo.c.gov to look at laws, case filings, and decisions and thinking about why the laws exist, what happened in the cases, the types of organizations and environments, the perpetrators and targets, etc., etc.
1. What are your general thoughts after spending some time at eeo.c.gov?
2. Pick one case that appears on EEOC.gov that was resolved (e.g., settled, with monetary benefits). Print it and answer the following questions:
   a. What happened?
   b. What were the laws involved?
   c. For how much was it resolved?
      i. Is that enough?
      ii. Why or why not?

2/5,

TEXTBOOK: Read Chapters 3 (Legislation) and 4 (Blacks/African Americans). Complete MINDTAP work. Start strong. Finish strong. Think intensively and critically.

Quiz 1, 2/5

HOMEWORK F: Mortgage Loans
http://usatoday30.usatoday.com/money/industries/banking/story/2012-07-12/wells-fargo-fine-discrimination-settlement/56170446/1

1. How does losing one’s home to foreclosure affect the accumulation of wealth?
2. How does wealth affect other aspects of one’s life?
3. Aside from dealing with the fine, what should Wells Fargo do?
4. Prior to reading this case had you thought about discrimination against customers or the consequences of such discrimination?

HOMEWORK G:
Loan officer fired:

QTC:
1. How is this kind of issue related to situations like the Wells Fargo case?
